The four angles allow you to move from a posture with your knees propped up, to a fully reclined position. You can use it as a chair with knee support, as you lean forward to work, or shift your weight slightly backward for an upright position, resting your feet on the knee rests or on the floor. To recline fully, push gently on the floor with one foot and lie back until your legs are at a height above your heart. In this position, the chair rocks slightly to the rhythm of your breathing and allows you to experience weightless relaxation. The space between the headrest and the backrest leaves your arms and shoulders free to move. The adjustable headrest raises and lowers to give you maximum comfort. Soft Tape (protective felts) are included. Varier, a Norwegian company that has its historical roots in the Stokke company, designs and manufactures high-quality ergonomic chairs that encourage people to move even when they are seated. Varier ergonomic chairs are designed according to a design that listens to our bodies, supports them by leaving them free, and aims to preserve the health of the person and that of the environment. Varier is proud to belong to a culture that invests in ethical practices that help turn profits into value for future generations. All ergonomic chairs meet quality and ecological standards.
